POPULATION ESTIMATES FOR NORTH CAROLINA MUNICIPALITIES AND COUNTIES

(July 1, 1981 Permanent Resident Population)

This report presents estimates of the July 1, 1981 permanent resident population of North Carolina, each of its 100 counties, and incorporated municipalities within boundaries as of July 1, 1981. For comparative purposes the April 1, 1980 Census counts for each municipality within boundaries as of January 1, 1980 are shown. This report also presents the population of all municipalities over 2,500 ranked by size.

County and municipal population estimates have been prepared by the Office of State Budget and Management to meet the needs of data users requiring estimates more current than the 1980 Census. Annual municipal estimates are prepared in two series: one for state and municipal planning purposes and a second for the distribution of state shared revenues. The series presented in this publication is for planning purposes and estimates the population as of July 1, 1981 residing in municipal boundaries as of the same date.

Because of specific legislation, municipal estimates for revenue sharing purposes must reflect population as of July 1, 1981 residing in municipal boundaries as of July 1, 1982. This latter series of estimates is regularly supplied to municipal and county governments and is available upon request.

The State, county and municipal population estimates were developed from federal census counts as reported in the 1980 Census of Population Vol. 1, Characteristics of the Population, Chapter A, Number of Inhabitants, PC80-1-A35, U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, including all known corrections to that report. These federal statistics were then updated to July 1, 1981 by the North Carolina Office of State Budget and Management, Research and Planning Services utilizing the following general methods:

A. County Estimates

Since the U.S. Bureau of the Census did not publish 1981 county population estimates, the estimates contained in this report were prepared by the Office of State Budget and Management utilizing the regression method. This method has been used historically by the Census Bureau in making population estimates. For North Carolina, the regression method, when tested against 1980 census counts, has produced population estimates with the least error when compared with other methods used by the Census Bureau. The data series used in the regression method include automobile registrations, school enrollment and a three year sum of births. The relationship of these series to population change historically is used to estimate the resident non-group quarters population. To this estimate is added group quarters data obtained from administrative records or collected directly from the counties. The county population estimates were controlled to the provisional 1981 state estimate published by the Bureau of the Census, but adjusted for known corrections to the census.

The methods used in generating the county estimates are discussed in detail in "Provisional Estimates of the Population of North Carolina Counties and Metropolitan Areas, July 1, 1981," State of North Carolina, Office of State Budget and Management, Research and Planning Services, November 1982.

B. Municipal Estimates

In preparing this year's municipal population estimates, several methods are used to independently estimate the non-group quarters population of each municipality and the county balance. For each municipality and county balance, the estimates resulting from different methods are averaged and a current estimate of the group quarters population is added to this estimate. The population estimates for each municipality and the nonmunicipal population are then controlled to the county estimate for 1981 through proportional adjustment if needed.

The municipal population estimate is based on an average of three or four methods depending upon the availability of some data series for cities with populations under 2,500. Each method uses the non-group quarters population in computing the population base for 1970 and/or 1980. Where trends are used, they are then applied to the 1980 base population. If a city has had a special census since the federal census, the population trend of that city is based on changes between the 1980 census and the special census. To the 1981 estimate of the population living within 1980 census municipal boundaries is added the population in areas annexed from January 1, 1980 through July 1, 1981. The following is a brief description of the methods used:

METHOD I. Constant Proportion

This method assumes that the non-group quarters population of the municipality grows at the same rate as the county in which it is located. That is, the ratio of the municipal non-group quarters population to county non-group quarters population is assumed to be the same in 1981 as it was in 1980 except for changes due to annexations since January 1, 1980.

METHOD II. City Growth Trend

This method assumes that the trend in the density of the non-group quarters population of a municipality which occurred between 1970 and 1980 will continue to 1981. For a city which did not annex, this method is identical to extrapolating the city's population based on its 1970-1980 trend.

METHOD III. City/County Growth Trend

This method assumes that the trend in the density of the non-group quarters population of the city relative to the density of the non-group quarters population of the county, established over the period 1970 to 1980, will continue to 1981. For a city that did not annex, this method is identical to extrapolating the trends in the ratio of the growth of the city to the county growth during the 1970's and applying the resulting relationship to the estimated county growth for the current period.

METHOD IV. Vital Rates

This method assumes that the city's non-group quarters population will change due to natural increase and an estimate of migration as indicated by migration trends for the municipality during the 1970's decade. Vital rates data are available for almost all municipalities over 2,500 population in 1980. These data are not available for smaller communities and communities which only passed the 2,500 population mark as of the 1980 Census. For those municipalities lacking vital rates data, an average of the first three methods is used.

Municipal estimates for each year during the 1980's will be generated independently of estimates for any previous year. This procedure allows flexibility for improvement of data sources and methods over the period of a decade. Trends in small area population do fluctuate from year to year and the user should be aware that the trend which is set for 1980-81 may not be the same as the trend observed in subsequent years. For this reason, any user studying the recent population trend for a particular municipality should compare only the most recent population estimate available with the 1980 and 1970 censuses as the best estimate of change.

Table 1 presents population estimates for North Carolina municipalities by county for July 1, 1981 in July 1, 1981 boundaries. Table 2 presents total populations for municipalities that are located in more than one county. Table 3 presents all North Carolina urban municipalities (i.e. those over 2,500) ranked by size for July 1, 1981. An index of municipalities giving their location by county appears for persons uncertain as to the location of certain cities.

<sup>2</sup>This municipality is inactive but not officially disincorporated. Because of this status, the town was not reported separately by the Bureau of the Census for 1970 and/or 1980.

<sup>3</sup>This municipality became a multi-county town through annexation since the 1970 Census.

<sup>6</sup>In 1970 the Town of Littleton consisted of a population of 433 in Halifax County and 470 in Warren County. In 1973 the General Assembly of North Carolina authorized a special election in order that the town's voters might decide in which of the two counties the town would be located. The result was a change in the county line so that Littleton is located totally in Halifax County. 1970 Census figures shown in this publication reflect these changes.
